Editor's Report

Thank you for the opportunity to edit your paper. It was a pleasure to review your work, which was compelling and persuasively argued. I have focused on correcting the grammar, improving the flow of the work, and improving academic tone throughout and have applied US English conventions, as requested.

As noted in the marginal comments, I ignored the many instances of missing references. I recommend ensuring that all references are restored and extra spaces removed before final submission. Please carefully read through my edits and in-text comments—which provide further detail and suggestions for improvements—before accepting or rejecting any changes. In addition, please review the table below for an assessment of your manuscript and an overview of key points that have been addressed.

I wish you the best of luck with your submission, and I look forward to working with you again soon.

Sincerely,

C. Quinn, BA

Abstract	The abstract is an appropriate length and summarizes the study.
Introduction	The introduction provides a clear reasoning for the study, and outlines issues in existing literature.
Methods	The methods are well-described, and the process of the experiment was easy to follow. There is some repetition in this section, which I noted in my comments.
Results	The results have been presented for all of the experiments implemented in the study.
Discussion and conclusions	The results are well-analyzed, with clear conclusions drawn from the data. These conclusions are compared against the initial hypotheses, and future avenues of research are described, though more detail could be helpful for future research ideas.
